30-second radio spot

It's 8:00 on a Saturday night, and you feel horrible. That nagging cough you had all week long hasn't gone away; it's gotten worse. And now you have the tough job of deciding whether to wait until Monday to see your doctor, or heading to the emergency room now. Did you know you have another option when it comes to quality after-hours medical care? Riverside Tappahannock Urgent Care is here to assist you when you experience certain non-life threatening illnesses or injuries after hours, such as: cough and cold, ear infections, sprains, or minor burns. You don't need an appointment to be seen at Riverside Urgent Care, and if you don't have a primary care doctor, our experienced healthcare professionals can help you find the right one. Of course, if you ever experience major trauma or any condition you feel may be life-threatening, go to the closest emergency room. But for those conditions that aren't an emergency but shouldn't wait until Monday morning, visit Riverside Tappahannock Urgent Care to receive the care you need when you need it.
